ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- The business must be an Illinois-based business, meaning a business that has its principal place of business in Illinois or that employs at least 100 full-time employees
- The business must remain in Illinois for the duration of the project
- The partnering institution of higher education must be Illinois-based and non-profit

PROGRAM BENEFITS

R&D partnerships between universities and companies offer benefits for both parties:

- Businesses benefit from the highly qualified university researchers; insight from new technologies; and access to unique research infrastructure—including facilities and equipment.
- Colleges and universities benefit from additional funding, market insight, and the potential creation of new university IP.
